Scarlet Fever

Most infectious diseases begin with fever, headache, a running nose and sore throat. When your child shows such symptoms, keep him at home away from other children. He may have scarlet fever.

If so, the doctor notices that the skin is quite flushed and dry. On inspection he finds the throat and tonsils are red and swollen. Even the tongue is red and rough. A characteristic rash begins to appear on the neck and chest. The next day the surface of the body becomes scarlet and covered with rash.

The worst thing that you have to fear about scarlet fever is the complications that might arise. Helen Keller is a victim of scarlet fever. It left her blind, deaf and speechless.

The period of incubation in scarlet fever varies from a day to a week. It may appear suddenly and be ushered in by convulsions or vomiting. The fever may run to 104 to 105 degrees.

The kidneys may become inflamed and there may be involvement of the heart, the middle ear, the joints, or any part of the body. Pneumonia might be a late complication.

Every effort should be made to protect children against this disease if it is in the community: the patients should be strictly quarantined. A mild case requires little treatment besides rest, baths, and a light, nourishing diet.

But scarlet fever is increasing due to negligence. Parents send children to school who are sneezing, sniffing and coughing. This infectious material is apt to be sprayed over other children, who may succomb to the infection which may turn out to be more serious than a cold.

Solled hands can carry contagion. So can pencils, door knobs, erasers, books and what not.

Teach your children to wash their hands before eating and to keep their fingers out of their noses and mouths.

The rash begins to peel in two or three days. It was formerly thought that the desquamating, or peeling scales contained the germs of the diseases. This theory has been given up, and it is believed that the discharge from the nose and throat is the chief means of conveying the contagion to others.

All of those who have had scarlet fever should be isolated for at least a month. It is too serious a disease to expose others and run the risk of their catching it.

It has ruined the careers of many children, who were the victims of others' carelessness.

SAW BLADES AND WINE

Lawton, Okla.- Prisoners in the Comanche county jail used the hacksaw blades smuggled in to them—not to escape from jail — but to saw on opening into an adjacent vault in which liquor was stored. They helped themselves to a dozen bottles of wine and started a celebration.

Darkleaf

was said: "It ain't worth a continental." It was said that Samuel Adams had to pay $2,000 for a suit and hat. But so, too, the Confederate money. The following verse illustrates the point:

"Representing nothing on God's earth now,
And naught in the water below it,
As a pledge of a nation that's dead and gone,
Keep it, my friend, and show it."

We could go on, and compare the deeds of John Paul Jones in the Revolution with those of Raphael Semmes in the 1860's. And of John Laurens with those of Mason and Slidell. And even after the wars, when Washington impressed upon his people the importance of education and industry, and Lee gave his remaining years to the school at Lexington. And, by way of conclusion, we might say that, in fond retrospection, the victors in the Revolution now look upon the British as friends, and despite all talk to the contrary, we trust that, thanks to the spirit of Lee and Grant at Appomattox, we can still hope for a full reconciliation of the adversaries of the War Between the States.

Carver-Price School News

Hello Readers!

We are back again after finishing another six weeks examination and receiving our report cards on Tuesday. Everyone expects good grades. Just think, there are only two more six weeks exams before our finals.

The Seniors and Juniors left on Thursday for Colonial Williamsburg. We hope they will really enjoy this trip. We'll give you a full report on it next week. Mrs. H. P. James, senior sponsor, and Mrs. O. W. Smith are accompanying the group.

The Women's Faculty Team of Carver will play the Women's Faculty Team from Central High in Charlotte Courthouse on Thursday night, March 15, at 8:00 o'clock. Come out and enjoy an evening of fun.

The Faculty will present their two one-act plays on Friday night, March 23, at 8:00 o'clock.

The English II class presented three original radio scripts in assembly Friday, March 9, after completing a unit on radio scripts. They were entitled, "Not Enough Time," written by Mary Franklin; "Father Knows Best," by Mary Goode, and "X-1," by Laura Fleshman.

The New Homemakers of America are sponsoring a St. Patrick Day Dance Friday, March 16, from 2:00-3:00 P. M.

News is a bit scarce this week. Everyone is very busy getting assignments, as this is one of the heavy study periods during the year.

Until next week, our thought: "The miracle, or the power, that elevates the few is to be found in their industry, application, and perservance under the promptings of a brave, determined spirit."

And now our Cafeteria Menu:

Thursday, March 15: Vegetable soup with beef, cheese and peanut butter sandwiches, cookies, milk.

Friday, March 16: Fried fish, boiled buttered potatoes, green peas, applesauce, bread, butter, milk.

Monday March 19: Barbecued pork, stewed corn, buttered string beans, apricots, bread, butter, milk.

Tuesday, March 20: Macaroni and cheese, turnip greens, baked tomatoes, applesauce, bread, butter, milk.

Wednesday March 21: Meat loaf, mashed potatoes, green peas, fruit jello, bread, butter, milk.

Thursday, March 22: Vegetable soup with beef, cheese and peanut butter sandwiches, ... butter, milk.

Friday, March 23: Broiled fish, spaghetti, coleslaw, stewed apricots, bread, butter, milk.

Textiles remain New England key, report says.
